CLOVERPORT, THE BEST PLACE ON THE OHIO

For The Location Of The Second Lock And Dam, To Be Built By Government. Mass Meeting Held Thursday Night By Citizens. Committee Appointed

DR. A. A. SIMONS, CHAIRMAN

A mass meeting was held in the office of the Bank of Cloverport Thursday night, to consider the proposition of a location of a lock and dam, to be built by the government, in the Ohio river. The government is going to build a series of locks and dams in the Ohio river, and they are trying to ascertain where they are most needed.

Dr. Simons received a letter from the government, asking him to look into the matter and give reasons why Cloverport would be the best place for one. A committee to convert Uncle Sam our port is the best location was appointed as follows: Marion Weatherholt, Dr. Boone, David Phelps, and Dr. Simons, Chairman.

J. C. Nolte, one of Cloverport's most enthusiastic and wide-awake citizens, declares, "We'll get it."

Rates Raised

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 27.—By a majority of 150 delegates to the national convention of the Modern Woodmen of America here today adopted a resolution which raised life insurance rates from $50 to $100 per cent over the price now being paid. The new rate will go into effect January 1, 1913, and will affect all present ones as well as those who take out insurance in the future.

INAUGURAL COMMITTEE REFUNDS THE SURPLUS

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 25.—The committee in charge of the inauguration of Gov. McCreary established a new record by returning to the contributors to the fund for entertainment 25 per cent of the amount contributed. The committee found a surplus after all expenses had been paid, and refunded the remainder. This is the first time any inaugural committee ever had a surplus.

CONRAD WINCHELL

Dies While On A Visit Back Home. Death Comes Suddenly Sunday Night. Son Of Levi Winchell

Conrad Winchell died Sunday night at the home of his father, Levi Winchell, of Tobinsport. He and Mrs. Winchell came last Wednesday from their home at Moweaqua, Ill., for a visit. Mr. Winchell was fifty years old. Besides a wife, he leaves one daughter, who arrived Monday to attend the funeral. He was the brother of Will, Hiram, James and John Winchell.

Weddings At St. Rose

Mr. Frank Hinton and Miss Teresa Crenshaw will be married at St. Rose church Wednesday morning, January 31, at nine o'clock.

Frank Hinton is the son of Benjamin Hinton, of Axtel, Kentucky, and Miss Teresa Crenshaw is the daughter of Robert Crenshaw, of the Pisgah neighborhood. The attendants will be Thos. Crenshaw and Miss Bessie Hinton.

January 9, Robert Elias, of McQuady, Ky., was married at St. Rose church, to Miss Mary Anna Beavin, of near town. The attendants were Richard E. Newman and Susie Haffey.

Sells Business

Lightfoot Miller, a former Hawesville citizen, has sold his mercantile business of Cruger, Miss. John Bentley, who came home to spend the holidays, was just ready to return to Cruger to resume his work as a salesman when notified that the business had been sold. He has since returned to his studies in the Cannelton school.—Clarion.

COUNTY UNIT BILL PASSES SENATE

By Large Majority -Graham Measure Which Is Identical To One Offered By Representative Niles Goes Through By Vote Of 22 to 16.

SENATOR BROWN AGAINST IT.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 26.—Senator J. C. Graham's county unit extension bill passed the Senate late yesterday afternoon by a big majority, the final vote standing 24 to 14. The proposal to substitute for the Graham bill a measure introduced by Senator Hite Huffer of Louisville, was voted down 22 to 16.

Passage of the Graham measure, which is a duplicate of the Niles bill, which passed the House last Friday, was effected only after spirited debating, some personal allusions charges of insincerity and, on the part of the Democrats, attempts to read one another out of the party.

The vote on the passage of the county unit bill was as follows:

Yeas—Senators B. M. Arnett, Bale, Beard, Bertram, Biggstaff, Brock, Catlett, Durham, Eaton, Frost, Glenn, Graham, Hubble, Marshall, Moody, Newcomb, Prichard, Salmon, Sanders, Scott, Thomas, Tichenor Tunis and Welsh.

Nays—Senators L. W. Arnett, Bagby, Berkshire, Bosworth, Brown, Chipman, Coburn, Dowling, Helm, Hogg, Holman, Huffaker, Mathers and Ryan.

House Burns At Hawesville.

The dwelling of County Clerk Ed. Lamar, located near "lover's leap," at Hawesville, burned to the ground about 2 p. m. Sunday, and together with most of its contents is a total loss, there being no insurance on it. The loss ranges from $1,200 to $1,500. Mr. Lamar had gone to church at Skillman, taking the preacher there, and his wife and children were visiting at Jailer Sanders' only a hundred feet or more away. It is thought the house took fire from an open grate.—Cannelton Telephone.

K. P. A. Should Go To Jackson

Since the press of the State and nation has often misrepresented the people of the mountains it might be well to hold the next meeting of the K. P. A. at Jackson. The members then could go home and give their readers a true story of the mountain people of Kentucky. The Jeffersonian hopes the Executive Committee will look favorably upon the invitation of the Jackson Commercial Club.—Jeffersonian.

The Crib At St. Rose.

The beautiful representation of the birth of Christ in statues has been on exhibition at St. Rose Catholic church and February the second it will be placed away until next Christmas. "The Crib" is very wonderful and has attracted a great deal of attention by both the Catholics and non-Catholics of this city. A precious little figure representing the Christ Child is surrounded by figures representing The Holy Virgin, St. Joseph, The Wise Men, The Shepherds and the ox and the ass, and they all tell the account of the event in the manger at Bethlehem. The Crib is used instead of pictures to illustrate the birth of the Loving Saviour.

Judge Jones Candidate

For Appellate Bench

Elizabethtown, Ky., Jan. 27.—Judge Samuel E. Jones, of Glasgow, will enter the race for the Democratic nomination as a candidate for a judge of the court of appeals. The judge has fully decided to make the race, and he will be supported by a large following of friends.

Shawn Of Skarrow

"Shawn of Skarrow" is the title of a new book by James Tandy Ellis, author of "Sprigs O' Mint", "Kentucky Stories" and "Awhile In The Mountains". Mr. Ellis is a Kentuckian by birth and his new story published by C. M. Clark Publishing Company, Boston, will find many readers in his native state.

A GOOD RECORD IS BEING MADE

Legislative Session Is a Wonder for Business.

KEEPING UP WITH THE WORK

In Sharp Contrast to the Dilatory Methods of Previous Legislatures, Particularly That of 1908, Present Session Has Got Down to Business and Is Really Passing Bills in This, the Fourth, Week of Its Career.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 30.—At the rate that the two houses of the general assembly are passing bills, this early in the session, it is probable that all records for legislation will be broken. The house has begun to pass bills in earnest, in the fourth week of the session. This affords a striking contrast to previous sessions when the bulk of the bills were put through during the last week of the session. In 1908, four years ago, every bill with one or two exceptions, was passed after midnight on the night that the session ended. The ending of the session at midnight is only technical for the clocks are all stopped and the house and senate grind along so long as may be necessary, short of daylight. In that session of 1908 at midnight, actual time, there had been passed only one or two small bills and the remainder of the important measures were put through after the hour of adjournment, if the strict letter of the law had been observed.

But there will be nothing like that at this session. The two houses probably will have finished up everything of importance before even the last week, much less the last day, and during the last few days will be sitting around doing nothing. One reason for the hurry in disposing of important legislation is that the Democrats, with a great majority, are trying to live up to their party pledges and carry out the platform. The insurgents have fallen into line and everything is rosy and lovely.

The Republicans, too, are in line for the same things that the Democrats favor, the platforms of the two parties being so nearly the same as to be almost indistinguishable. It was thought for a while that the Republicans would resort to obstructive tactics in an effort to force the passage of a fair re-districting bill but it seems now that the Republican leaders, who gathered in Frankfort in force last week, laid down the law that there must be no such practices attempted. The Republicans, therefore, can be counted on to support those measures which are mentioned in their party platform. They will vote for the platform pledges, as will the Democrats, so that the bills favored by the administration will all go along smoothly, the only delay being the steps necessary to get the measures into line for passage. As the committees are busy every night the preliminaries are quickly carried through.

The first bill that will go to the governor for his signature will be the county extension bill, which was passed by the senate on Thursday, after having been suddenly sprung in that body on Tuesday, when nobody was looking for it. The bill which passed the senate was offered by Senator Graham and was known as senate bill 21. As it originated in the senate, although exactly a duplicate of the Niles bill which passed the house, the senate bill will have to go to the house and be passed there before it can become a law with the governor's signature. It is generally conceded that the senate bill, which has passed, will be sent to the house rather than take any chances with the house bill in the senate and start a flood of oratory on the whole subject of temperance in the senate again.

It will require four or five days to get the senate bill up for passage in the house but it is likely that by the end of this week the county unit bill, which has vexed every legislature for the last ten years, will be ready to go to the governor. He will sign it, as a matter of course, having recommended it and worked for its passage. Not in years has a bill of general importance, such as this one, been sent to the governor so early in the session.

The question that is now being most generally discussed, since the county unit bill is out of the way, is what will be the effect on the counties in Kentucky which now have saloons. One of the brewery men who has taken a deep interest in the fight over the county unit bill said at the Capital hotel the other night that if the county unit law was passed the only counties in the state which would remain wet were Kenton, Campbell and Jefferson.

LOUISVILLE SHOW GREAT SUCCESS

Fifth Annual Exhibition Of The Louisville Poultry And Pet Stock Association Eclipses All Former Shows. Birds From Eighteen States

FIFTEEN HUNDRED PIGEONS

The fifth annual exhibition of the Louisville Poultry and Pet Stock Association and the second annual exhibition of the Kentucky Poultry Association opened at the Armory Monday. This is the largest exhibition of the kind and under better conditions than any ever held in Louisville and one of the largest and best ever held in the entire South. The different classes included 3,500 chickens and turkeys of all kinds; 1,500 pigeons and 250 dogs of different breeds.

The quality of all exhibits is much better than ever seen before at a Louisville show. There are birds on exhibit from eighteen different States.

This is the first time that the poultry show has been held in the Armory. This building gives ample space for all exhibits and is only equalled by the auditorium at Madison Square Garden where the New York show is held.

Pretty Thimble Party

Mrs. M. P. Kenny entertained the Echo Club with a thimble party at her handsome country home at Riverview. Silver thimbles were provided as souvenirs for the sixteen guests and were hidden away in all sorts of places. As each lady found her thimble she withdrew from the searching party and the last to succeed was rewarded with the prize—a beautiful gold thimble.—The Lockout.

CHAS. MARTIN

Former Citizen Of Cloverport Dies At His Sister's Home In Hawesville—Burial In Cloverport Cemetery Monday.

After a year's illness Charles C. Martin died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Sue Hawley, of Hawesville. Death came peacefully and he was fully prepared to die.

The funeral was held from Mrs. Hawley's residence Monday morning after which the body was brought on the passenger train that arrived here at 10 o'clock. The burial followed immediately at the Cloverport cemetery. Mrs. Sue Hawley and son, Chas. Hawley, Mrs. Len Goering, Mrs. H. Williams; Messrs. George Bentley and Joe Sapp; Mrs. Stinnett, of Owensboro, accompanied the body from Hawesville.

Mr. Martin was for a number of years a citizen and druggist of this city, and married Miss Sue La Heist. He was the nephew of Mrs. Francis Sawyer. Mr. Martin was a member of the Methodist church here. He was nearly sixty-two years of age.

Peyton R. Claycomb For Wilson And Folk.

Dear Mr. Babbage: Find enclosed $1 for renewal to the Breckenridge News. Following is my Presidential ticket for 1912: For President, Woodrow Wilson, of N. J., and for Vice-president, Joseph W. Folk, of Missouri. This will make a sure winner. Respectfully, Peyton R. Claycomb, Webster, Jan. 27, 1912.

LETTER ONE HUNDRED AND FIVE YEARS OLD

Earl Bennett's Treasure Box Brings Up Another of Equal Value—Dr. Simons Produces A Book Published When George Washington Was President.

LETTER WRITTEN BY THREE.

How would you like to wait for an important letter to come from New Hampshire to Cloverport, not by train or telegraph, but by horseback? The letter Mr. Earl Bennett found, written thirty-five years ago to his grand-father, has brought to light several valuable old books and manuscripts that have been put away like gems packed in a treasure box.

A letter, that is greatly treasured, is one that Dr. Simons has in his possession, with a number of others, which was written jointly, to his grand-father by three persons of New Hampshire in the year of 1806. The letter was sent from Lebanon, N. H., to Colchester, N. Y., from there to Kentucky by post-horse. There were no stamps then and the postage from New York to Kentucky was twenty-five cents. The letter was folded and sealed, not enclosed in an envelope, and on one corner of it was written the post-man's name. The letter was written in regard to the marriage of Dr. Simons' grand-father, wishing him happiness in the matrimonial state and that some "were waiting with wet eyes" to hear if he were really married.

Dr. Simons' father was named Arad Simons, so was his father and his great grand-father. They all had the same name and the same taste for literature and knowledge, and valued books to the highest. Dr. Simons has a valuable book he obtained from Mr. Weatherholt. The book was published February 18, 1791, when the "Father of Our Country" was president. It contains: The Federal Constitution, The Acts of the Three Sessions of the First Congress, The Treaties Existing Between the United States and Foreign Nations and Several Indian Tribes, also the Declaration of Independence and Sunday Resolves and Ordinances of Congress under the Confederation.

Dr. Simons also has a unique arithmetic and history of the United States. The history tells about the mills that were built on boats to grind corn for people living along the Ohio. The description says that the corn was ground by a wheel run by the current of the river. The boat always stayed at one place until all the corn was prepared for the inhabitants living nearby on both the Indiana and Kentucky shores, then the mill-man continued his trip down the river until he had finished his work.

Mr. Sam Keith has a letter written to his grand-father, Sam LaHeist, in 1840 from Louisville, saying they had received his order for eight barrels of flour, but could only send him three barrels. Think what a child Louisville was seventy-two years ago! Now she is big enough and has the capacity to ship 10,000 barrels of flour a day.

Farm Needs Boys And Girls.

The "booster clubs" continue to "boost" city population and the price of bread, meat and butter continues to climb. To decrease the number of producers and increase the number of consumers will continue to increase the cost of living. It is not much less than criminal to draw people into the cities to work in factories when their services are needed for farm work. What the country needs is a "back-to-the-farm" movement. The cities are too big now.—Rockport Journal.

PLOWING WITH DYNAMITE

Plows have been used for many centuries to break up the surface of the earth, so that seeds could be easily planted and grow better; but from the forked stick of the savage to the great gang plow of the modern farmer, plows have rarely broken up the ground satisfactorily to a depth greater than eight to ten inches.

subsoil, so the water rushes to the low ground, carrying much of the valuable surface soil with it. There, still unable to sink through the hardpan, it prevents plowing until the water evaporates or causes the seed to rot if it is already in the ground.

In places where irrigating is carried on extensively, the ground bearing crops. On land of this kind, drainage, irrigation, dikes, late plowing and rotting seed could all be done away with if the subsoil or hardpan were properly broken up.

There is only one practical way to upturn and aerate these lower soils, or to shatter hardpan, and that is by blasting.

dynamite have become generally recognized. The Department of Agriculture, the various agricultural colleges, and men prominently identified with farming in different parts of the country, are all now making a careful study of this question in order to determine the strength, quantity and kind of explosives, the most ef-

* SUBSOIL BLASTING—LIGHTING THE FUSE

In rich, open soil that is properly fertilized, plowing will break up the ground sufficiently for many years, but eventually a hard stratum, sometimes called "plow hardpan" or "plow sole," forms just below the depth to which the plow reaches. This "plow sole" must be broken up, or the land will begin to fail. Even when "plow sole" does not exist, land that has been bearing crops for many years is wonderfully improved, if the lower soil is broken up and aerated once in every six or eight years.

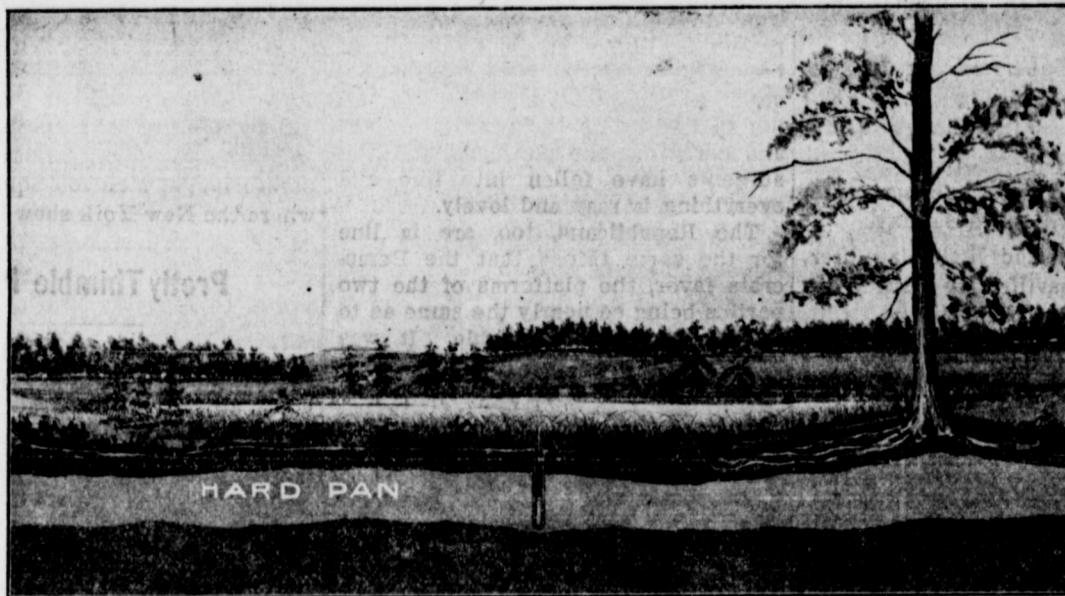

Land that has only a thin surface soil overlaid by an impervious or partly impervious subsoil, sometimes known as "hardpan," will not produce crops at all, or else only produce them in a very limited degree, or for a short time only, unless the subsoil be thoroughly broken up. Where the fertile surface soil is fairly deep, attempts have been made to farm this land by means of drainage and irrigation, the surplus water of the wet season being drained off, and the lack of water in the dry season being overcome by irrigation. This system is expensive, and at best gives only temporary relief, for in the end it tends to increase the thickness of the hardpan, and in some localities may be responsible for alkali soil. The heavy rains of the wet season of one cannot penetrate this sometimes becomes so saturated that the water level rises close to the surface. This makes the land practically worthless for vegetation of any kind other than pasture. If alkali exists in the soil, or is deposited by irrigation, no crops can be raised when the Subsoil and hardpan can be plowed just as effectively with explosives as surface soil can be with a plow, and just as cheaply, too, for it is only necessary to do this subsoil plowing once in a number of years.

Blasting subsoil has been pracfective way of using them, and the depth and spacing of the holes, for best results. Farmers everywhere are experimenting on their own account. Many are already claiming that subsoil plowing with explosives will be a common custom in a few years, and will represent ground water reaches the level of the plants' roots.

In some parts of the country, ridges or "dikes" are run at regular intervals over all of the higher ground, to keep the thin surface soil from being washed away. Considerable time and labor is required to make these dikes, as well as to keep them in shape, and they take up ground that should be used for many years by a few progressive farmers in different parts of the country. These men have had wonderful results in the way of increased crops on land already under cultivation, and in transforming into excellent growing land that which would have been worthless without dynamite.

It is only lately, however, that the benefits from plowing with millions of dollars in increased crops from lands already under cultivation, and more millions from land now producing nothing but weeds and considered entirely worthless. Along with this increase in land production, will be a reduction in the expense of draining and irrigating; because, when hard subsoils are properly shattered with explosives, the surplus water falling in rainy seasons sinks down to the lower soils, and does not need to be drained off. Neither is it necessary in dry seasons to provide water by means of irrigating to keep the crops from drying up, because the water which has settled deep in the ground during the heavy rains is drawn up in the dry season by the plant roots as they need it.

Simplified Concrete

Construction.

Improved methods of concrete construction are shown by a number of illustrations in the February Popular Mechanics Magazine. The same forms are used repeatedly, and the surfaces of the concrete castings are as smooth as if cut from stone. The different members used in construction are cast on the ground and left to dry until needed, when they are raised into place exactly as pieces are assembled in large cut stone structures. A track is constructed along the proposed building and on this a derrick travels and places the elements, columns, pilasters, lintels, etc.

The manner of constructing the stairways is interesting. The flight is cast in reinforced concrete as a whole, lifting loops of steel being left for the attachment of the grab hooks of the derrick, and then when needed, the stairs are raised and set into the place prepared for them.

Temperance People

Should Get Busy.

It behooves the temperance people to get busy with their Congressmen if they hope to make the State local option laws effective. The decision of the U. S. Supreme Court Monday, which legalizes shipments into "dry" territory and compels the railroads to carry it whether they wish to or not, gives the liquor interests every advantage and virtually nullifies State legislation.—Harrodsburg Leader.

WILL LINE UP FOR ROOSEVELT

Mountain Republicans Will Try To Get Kentucky Instructions.
Organization Already Working--Want To Beat Taft.

HEAD-QUARTERS IN LOUISVILLE

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 27.—Republicans of the Eleventh Congressional district have started a movement to capture the Republican state convention and send a delegation to the Chicago national convention instructed for the Col. Theodore Roosevelt for the nomination for president. A compact and business-like organization to promote the candidacy of Col. Roosevelt headquarters are to be opened shortly in Louisville. It is stated on reliable authority that assurances have been received from Col. Roosevelt that he will accept a nomination if it should be tendered to him.

The fight in the state convention, according to prominent Republicans who have been in Frankfort, will be to beat President Taft for re-nomination, and Col. Roosevelt is the man who has been agreed upon as the candidate most likely to win. Should Col. Roosevelt decide not to become a candidate, Senator Cummins, of Iowa, or Gov. Hadley, of Missouri, will be selected as the anti-Taft candidate, with the probability of one or the other of these being selected as the running mate for Col. Roosevelt.

Judge R. C. Tartar, of Pulaski county, who was in Frankfort yesterday is an out and out Roosevelt man, and declares that the Eleventh district is overwhelmingly in favor of the nomination of Col. Roosevelt for president. He said that the delegates from every county in the Eleventh district would be sent to the state convention instructed to vote for Col. Roosevelt as Kentucky's choice for the presidential nomination. He said:

"In my district, the big Republican district of the state, the enthusiasm is all for Col. Roosevelt, and he is the man we believe best and strongest. We do not believe that Mr. Taft can be elected. The people of the Eleventh district believe that Mr. Taft does not stand by his friends, and that he will not 'stand hitched,' so we are not for him for the nomination."

It is said that Congressman John Langley will support the Roosevelt movement, and that Judge Edward C.
O'Rear, late candidate for governor, will also be in the Roosevelt forces.
The movement to send a delegation from Kentucky instructed for Col.
Roosevelt is said to be growing at a rapid rate, and the supporters of the Colonel say that they will control the state convention Roosevelt sentiment

Return To Irvington.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Dowell were here from Owensboro Friday enroute to their home at Irvington. Mr. Dow-ell was here to see Dr. McDonald on business and Mrs. Dowell was the guest of Mrs. Henry Pate. While at Owensboro they visited Mr. John Jameson, who has just sold his farm near Owensboro for the handsome price of $40,000, and then some.

F. H. Pierce Is Ill.

F. H. Pierce, of Los Vegas, N. M., arrived in Owensboro at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning and was taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Watkins on Frederica street. Mr. Pierce has been ill for several days, and his wife, who had been visiting in Owensboro for some time, went west and joined her husband at La Junta, Colo., from which place they returned to Owensboro.—Owensboro Messenger.

Had Fine Visit In Blue Grass.

W. B. Taul has returned home from a pleasant visit to connections in the Blue-grass section. He visited in Boyle and Washington counties and in Springfield. Mr. Taul said it is an excellent country and they raise fine tobacco there. He saw Burly that brought from $5 to $20 per hundred.

Attention Farmers!

We Have a Number of Mules for Sale From 4 to 6 Years old at low Prices.

We invite your inspection before you make your purchase for this season. These mules are guaranteed to be sound and to work. There is a better feeling in the mule market, and as these mules are too thin in flesh to ship we are offering the farmers special inducements in order to get more room in our stables for fat mules. We offer no words of advice, but we feel that the quicker you come into possession of your teams for this Spring's work the less money you will have invested. We have a few young mares that would also be suitable for farm purposes, that we wish to sell or exchange for mules or geldings that are in a condition for the market. I am at Hardinsburg on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday.

BACK-TO-THE-HOME MOVEMENT.

One scarcely picks up a magazine or newspaper that does not contain an article headed "Back to the Farm." Really, so much has been written on the subject that it has become a movement and vigorous steps are being made to get people back to the farm from the city.

What is far more needed today is a Back-to-the-Home-Movement. Getting men and women, boys and girls to appreciate home. Men, the very best men are selling their souls to their work. They are giving their best thought—their treasures—completely to their business. Where the treasure is, so is the heart, and if the treasure is not at home neither is the heart.

Americans are bringing business interests first and last. People are making home only an eating and sleeping place. The homes are being robbed of the daughters—and even some of the mothers—who are holding positions that should be filled by men. If this were not true the number of incompetent men would be less.

People are so busy during the week that Sunday—instead of being a home day, a day of rest and spiritual worship, is crowded with small tasks. Man either has the working habit or the going habit and has lost his appreciation of home life.

Back-to-the-home! How we should love to start the movement and get folks to go home soon enough, get them to stay long enough to enjoy the wholesome blessings of "The sacred refuge of our life." There we can get the best training, develop the keenest intellect and have the best time the world affords.

UP TO CONGRESS TO END THE TROUBLE.

The Supreme Court of the United States declared that the law of the state of Kentucky designed to exclude the shipment of liquor from adjoining states into prohibition counties was unconstitutional. This traffic is interstate traffic and, according to this decision, under the exclusive control of Congress though Congress has not taken any action in connection with this peculiar traffic.

This is an overthrow of home rule in which Democrats believe. The trouble can all be ended and such shipments of liquor stopped, if Congress will pass a bill providing for such stoppage. It is not worth while to deal in generalities. Lincoln county is dry under state statute and will by the result of the next election continue it. Lincoln county furnishes one of the thirteen congressmen from Kentucky and he can offer no bill which will be more appreciated over the district than one to prohibit the interstate shipment of booze into dry territory.—Standford Interior Journal.

We wish that every congressman from Kentucky could realize that he would be as greatly appreciated as the congressman of Lincoln county would be in offering the bill to prohibit the interstate shipments of whiskey into dry territories.

Mr. Watterson can say that Mr. Wilson lied but the people won't believe it. They grow stronger every day believing in Mr. Wilson's honesty and integrity of purpose.

Senator Louis Arnett, said, in his speech before the senate, that he greatly feared that if the county was made the unit his county, Kenton, would vote out the saloons. But it is generally believed that Kenton would remain wet. In Fayette and Franklin, however, there would be intense feeling aroused by an election on the subject of the open saloon and it is said by those in a position to know that even Lexington, with more than a hundred saloons, would vote them out and establish the city as dry territory. The new law will not become effective until the middle of June.

Diré results are predicted by the agents for fire insurance companies if the Zorn bill, establishing an insurance commission, to control and regulate fire insurance rates, is passed by the legislature. The whole question has been discussed at length by both sides and the general opinion is that the bill will be passed, the new insurance commissioners, to act with the present commissioner, being named by the auditor. It is understood that Henry Bosworth, state auditor, would have fought the bill had it been left as it was originally drawn, with the appointments left in the hands of the governor. But Mr. Bosworth had his way and the bill was amended so as to permit of him naming the insurance commission. The fire insurance men are making a hard fight and declare that Kentucky will regret the step that is to be taken.

The policy holders generally are pleased, however, and see in the bill a chance to get a reduction in fire insurance rates, which have been somewhat higher in Kentucky than in other states. It was suggested, since the discussion of the bill began, that the insurance companies would decline to write insurance on large stocks of goods held by merchants in Louisville, forcing the law to become obnoxious. But the insurance agents say that they would not be able to get the companies to agree on this policy. They say that not even two companies could be prevailed upon to refuse to write policies on any stock or building, if the hazards were good.

Dr. Louis McOurthy, one of the leading surgeons in this country and one of the best known physicians in Louisville, in a discussion of the investigation of the state board of health, which has been begun by the house com-

COOKING A HUSBAND

Old Recipe—Farm Journal

Sent to The News by Mrs. K. L. Bennett

A great many husbands are utterly spoiled by mismanagement in cooking, and are not tender nor good.

Some proceed as if their husbands were balloons, and so blow them up; others keep them constantly in hot water; and still others let them freeze by their indifference and neglect. Some keep them in a stew all their lives by irritating ways and words. Others roast them.

Some keep them in a pickle. It can not be supposed that any husband will be tender and good when managed in this way; but they are really delicious when properly treated.

In selecting your husband you should not be guided by the silvery appearance, as in trying mackerel; nor by the golden tint, as in salmon. Be sure you select him yourself, as tastes differ. Do not go to the market for him, as the best are always brought to the door. It is far better to have none unless you will patiently learn how to prepare him. A preserving kettle of the finest porcelain is best, but if you have nothing but an earthen pipkin it will do, with care.

See that the linen in which you wrap him is nicely washed, neatly mended, and with the required number of buttons and strings.

Tie him in the kettle with a strong silken cord called "comfort," as the one called "duty" is apt to be weak. He is liable to fly out of the kettle and be burned and crusty on the edges, since, like crabs and lobsters, you have to cook 'em alive. Make a clear, steady fire out of love, neatness and cheerfulness. Set him as near this as seems to agree with him. If he sputter and fizzle do not be anxious; some do this until they are quite done. Add a little sugar in the form of confections called kisses, but no vinegar or pepper on any account. A little spice is good, but it must be used with judgment. Do not test him with any sharp instrument to see if he is browning tender.

Stir him gently and you can not fail to know when he is done. If thus treated you will find him very digestible, agreeing with you nicely, and he will keep as long as wanted, unless you become careless and set him in too cold a place.

mittée on Kentucky statutes, said the night he was summoned here to testify at the inquiry:

"The committee will find nothing wrong for the excellent reason that there is nothing wrong to find. The board of health has conducted its business well and there is nothing to conceal. The deeper that the committee digs the more credit will be reflected on the board for it has done a great service for the state."

A woman was on the witness stand during the first part of the investigation, which will be continued this week, and she made the best impression on anybody who testified at the inquiry. She is Dr. Lillian South, state bacteriologist, with headquarters at Bowling Green. The committee was misinformed regarding Dr. South. It had heard that she was not well educated and that she was not thoroughly up on her subjects. That is where the committee fell down. Those who attended the meeting at which she testified regarding her work with the board of health say that they never heard a more brilliant witness or one that showed to be better advantage. The committee was not sorry when it was through examining and probing into her affairs.

Dr. J. N. McCormack, secretary of the board of health, a veteran in years and experience, was put on the grill by Representative Herrington, of Madison county, but the doctor was well able to take care of himself and came off best in the agreement. He answered frankly every question asked him. He was on the stand for several hours and the most personal questions were put to him but he did not turn a hair.

The investigation of the board of health is going to cost the state some $2,000 or $2,500, that much money being required to pay the transportation of witnesses to and from Frankfort. A large number of new witnesses have been summoned to testify again on Tuesday night when the inquiry will be resumed and this will add more to the expenses of the investigation. It was prompted by the committee which has in charge Mr. Herrington's bill giving the governor the power to appoint the secretary of the state board of health. It is reported that the governor has said that it would make little difference whether he appoints or the board elects the secretary, so far as he is concerned, as he would re-appoint Dr. McCormack. Dr. McCormack was appointed a member of the board of health by the present governor when he was governor thirty-six years ago and the present secretary of the board is the only man now holding office who was in office when Gov. McCreary first sat in the governor's chair.

With the county unit bill, which usually blocks all legislation, out of the way and disposed of for two years to come, the legislature will go to work on the other measures and try to get them through. The house has passed the bill giving women votes in school elections and the senate probably also will pass this bill, it being in the party platform of the two dominant parties. The public utilities bill has not been considered in the committee but will be given a hearing this week. The committee which has in charge the bills providing a new method of selecting prison commissioners, is preparing a new bill, which really is only the old bill of Peter Lee Atherton, amended in some particulars. The bill has attracted even more attention than the county unit bill and it is in the senate that the main fight will be pitched. But the commission practically has abandoned hope of preventing the passage of a bill giving the governor the power to appoint the members of the commission, who shall number four and be of two parties.

Thus far during the session nothing has been heard from the dog tax law, except the usual number of bills to repeal the selection which has met with so much objection on the part of the dog owners.

The remains of Mrs. Nancy R. Williams were brought here from Evansville Thursday afternoon and taken to the home of her son, W. H. Williams, for the night. At ten o'clock yesterday morning the funeral services were conducted from the Hawesville Methodist church, of which she was so long a devoted member. Rev. H. L. Shelton being in charge and the body was buried in the Hawesville cemetery by the side of her late husband, W. H. Williams, Sr., who died March 1, 1904. Mrs. Williams died at 10 o'clock Wednesday at the home of her son, D. C. Williams, with whom she made her home in Evansville. She had been ill two weeks of pneumonia. Before her marriage Mrs. Williams was Miss Nancy Mitchell, daughter of Jas. A.

CHAPTER XVIII.

CONTRABAND.

SHeldon did not mention the subject again, nor did his conduct change from what it had always been. There was nothing of the pining lover, nor of the lover at all, in his demeanor. Nor was there any awkwardness between them. They were as frank and friendly in their relations as ever.

The labor situation in Berande was improving. The Martha had carried away fifty of the blacks whose time was up, and they had been among the worst on the plantation—five year men recruited by Johnny Be-blown, men who had gone through the old days of terrorism when the original owners of Berande had been driven away. The new recruits, being broken in under the new regime, gave better promise. Joan had joined with Sheldon from the start in the program that they must be gripped with a strong hand.

"I think it would be a good idea to put all the gangs at work close to the house this afternoon," she announced one day at breakfast. "I've cleaned up the house, and you ought to clean up the barracks. There is too much stealing going on."

Joan and Sheldon, both armed, went through the barracks, house by house, the boss boys assisting.

A wealth of loot was recovered. There were fully a dozen cane knives, big backing weapons, with razor edges, capable of decapitating a man at a stroke, but most astonishing was the quantity of ammunition—cartridges for Lee Metfords, for Winchester and Marlins, for revolvers from 32 caliber to 45, shotgun cartridges, Joan's two boxes of 28 cartridges of prodigious bore for the ancient Sniders of Malaita, flasks of black powder, sticks of dynamite, yards of fuse and boxes of detonators. But the great find was in the house occupied by Gogoomy and five Port Adams recruits. The fact that the boxes yielded nothing excited Sheldon's suspicions, and he gave orders to dig up the earthen floor. Wrapped in matting, well oiled, free from rust, and brand new, two Winchester were first unearthed. Sheldon did not recognize them. They had not come from Berande; neither had the forty flasks of powder found under the corner post of the house; and, while he could not be sure, he could remember no loss of eight boxes of detonators. The absence of any cartridges made Sheldon persist in the digging up of the floor, and a fifty pound flour tin was his reward. With glowering eyes Gogoomy looked on while Sheldon took from the tin a hundred rounds each for the two Winchester and fully as many rounds more of nondescript cartridges of all sorts and makes and calibers.

The contraband and stolen property was piled in assorted heaps on the back veranda of the bungalow. A few paces from the bottom of the steps were grouped the forty odd culprits, while behind them, in solid array, the several hundred blacks of the plantation. At the head of the steps Joan and Sheldon were seated.

"Look at it," Sheldon said to Joan. "We've been sleeping over a volcano. They ought to be whipped."

"No whip me," Gogoomy cried out from below. "Father belong me big fella chief. Me whip, too much trouble along you, close up, my word."

"What name you fella Gogoomy?" Sheldon shouted. "I knock seven bells out of you. Here, you Kwaque, put 'in iron along that fella Gogoomy.' Kwaque, a strapping gang boss, plucked Gogoomy from out of his following, and helped by the other gang bosses twisted his arms behind him and snapped on the heavy handcuffs.

"Me finish along you, close up, you die altogether," Gogoomy, with wrath distorted face, threatened the boss boy.

"Please, no whipping," Joan said in a low voice. "If whipping is necessary, send them to Tulagi and let the government do it. Give them their choice between a fine or an official whipping."

Sheldon nodded and stood up, facing the blacks.

"Manonmie," he called.

Manonmie stood forth and waited.

"You fella boy had fella too much," Sheldon charged. "You steal 'in plenty. Me cross along you too much. S'pose, you like 'in, me take 'in one fella pound along you in big book."

S'pose you no like 'in me take 'in one fella pound, then me send you fella along Tulagi catch 'in one strong fella government whipping. Plenty New Georgia boys, plenty Ysabel boys stop along jail along Tulagi. Then fella no like Malaita boys little bit. My word, they give 'in you strong fella whipping. What you say?"

"You take 'in one fella pound along me," was the answer.

And Manonmie, patently relieved, stepped back, while Sheldon entered the fine in the plantation labor journal.

Boy after boy, he called the offenders out and gave them their choice, and boy by boy each one elected to pay the fine imposed.

Gogoomy and his five tribesmen were fined three pounds each, and at Gogoomy's guttural command they refused to pay.

"S'pose you go along Tulagi," Sheldon warned him; "you catch 'in strong fella whipping and you stop along jail three fella year. Savvee?"

Gogoomy wavered.

"You take 'in three fella pound along me," Gogoomy muttered, at the same time scowling his hatred at Sheldon and transferring half the scowl to Joan and Kwaque. "Me finish along you, you catch 'in big fella trouble, my word. Father belong me big fella chief along Fort Adams."

"That will do," Sheldon warned him. "You shut mouth belong you."

"Me no fright," the son of a chief retorted, by his insolence increasing his stature in the eyes of his fellows.

"Lock him up for tonight," Sheldon said to Kwaque. "Sun he come up put 'in that fella and five fella belong him along grass cutting. Savvee?"

"There will be trouble with Gogoomy yet," Sheldon said to Joan, as the boss boys marshalled their gangs and led them away to their work. "Keep an eye on him. Be careful when you are riding alone on the plantation. The loss of those Winchester and all that ammunition has hit him harder than your cuffing did. He is dead ripe for mischief."

"I wonder what has become of Tudor. It's two months since he disappeared into the bush, and not a word of him after he left Binu."

Joan Lackland was sitting astride her horse by the bank of the Balesuna, where the sweet corn had been planted, and Sheldon was leaning against her horse's shoulder.

"Yes, it is a long time for no news to have trickled down," he answered, watching her keenly from under his hat brim and wondering as to the measure of her anxiety for the adventurous gold hunter. "But Tudor will come out all right. He did a thing at the start that I wouldn't have given him or any other man credit for—persuaded Binu Charley to go along with him. I'll wager no other Binu nigger has ever gone so far into the bush unless to be kai'ed."

"Look! Look!" Joan cried in a low voice, pointing across the narrow stream to a slack eddy, where a huge crocodile drifted like a log awash.

"Ugh! The filthy beasts! I hate them! I hate them!"

"And yet you go diving among sharks," Sheldon chided. "Just the same, I wish I could swim as well as you. Maybe it would beget confidence such as you have."

"Do you know I think it would be nice to be married to a man such as you seem to be becoming," she remarked, with one of her abrupt changes that always astounded him. "I should think you could be trained into a very good husband—you know, not one of the domineering kind, but one who considered his wife was just as much an individual as himself and just as much a free agent. Really, you know, I think you are improving."

She laughed and rode away, leaving him greatly cast down. If he had thought there had been one bit of coy-

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or setting stringy or milky appearance, indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water, and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine, or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

ness in her words, one feminine nutter, one womanly attempt at deliberate lure and encouragement he would have been elated. But he knew absolutely that it was the boy and not the woman who had so daintily spoken.

Joan rode through twenty acres of uncleared cane. The grass was waist high and higher, and as she rode along she remembered that Gogoomy was one of a gang of boys that had been detailed to the grass cutting. A little farther on she heard voices and reined in and listened. It was Gogoomy talking.

"Dog no stop 'in along house, night time he walk about," Gogoomy was saying. "You fella boy catch 'in one fella pig, put 'in kai-kai, belong him dog along one big fella fish hook."

S'pose dog he walk about catch 'in kai-kai, you fella boy catch 'in dog allee same one shark. Dog he finish close up. Big fella marster sleep along big fella house. White Mary sleep along pickaninny house. One fella Adamu he stop along outside pickaninny house. You fella boy finish 'in dog, finish 'in Adamu, finish 'in big fella marster, finish 'in white Mary, finish 'in altogether. Plenty musket he stop, plenty powder, plenty tomahawk, plenty knife fee. Sun he come up we long way too much."

"Me catch 'in pig sun he go down," spoke up one whose thin falsetto voice Joan recognized as belonging to Cosse, one of Gogoomy's tribesmen.

"Me catch 'in dog," said another.

"And me catch 'in white fella Mary," Gogoomy cried triumphantly. "Me catch 'in Kwaque he die along him quick."

This much Joan heard of the plan to murder, and then her rising wrath proved too much for her discretion. She spurred her horse into the grass, crying:

"What name you fella boy, eh? What name?"

They arose, scrambling and scattering, and to her surprise she saw there were a dozen of them. As she looked in their glowering faces and noted the heavy, two-foot hacking cane knives in their hands, she became suddenly aware of the rashness of her act. If only she had her revolver or a rifle, all would have been well. But she had carelessly ventured out unarmed.

"To much talk along you fella boy," she said severely. "Too much talk, too little work. Savvee?"

Gogoomy made no reply, but, apparently shifting weight, he slid one foot forward. The other boys, spread farwise about her, were also sliding forward, the cruel cane knives in their hands advertising their intention.

"You cut 'in grass?" she commanded imperatively.

But Gogoomy slid his other foot forward. She measured the distance with her eye. It would be impossible to whirl her horse around and get away. She would be chopped down from behind.

She lifted her riding whip threateningly, and at the same moment drove in both spurs with her heels, rushing the startled horse straight at Gogoomy. He swerved aside to avoid the horse, at the same time swinging his cane knife in a slicing blow that would have cut her in twain. She leaned forward under the flying steel, which cut through her riding skirt, through the edge of the saddle, through the saddle cloth, and even slightly into the horse itself. Her right hand, still raised, came down, the thin whip whirling through the air. She saw the white, crooked mark of the weal clear across the sullen, handsome face, and still what was practically in the same instant she saw another member of the band, over ridden, go down before her, and she heard his snarling and grinning chatter—for all the world like an angry monkey. Then she was free and away, heading the horse at top speed for the house.

Out of her sea training she was able to appreciate Sheldon's executiveness when she burst in on him with her news. Springing from the steamer chair in which he had been lounging while waiting for breakfast, he clapped his hands for the house boys; and, while listening to her, he was buckling on his cartridge belt and running the mechanism of his automatic pistol. "Ornfril," he snapped out his orders, "you fella ring big fella bell strong fella plenty. You finish 'in bell, you put 'in saddle on horse. Viaburi, you go quick house belong Seelee he stop, tell 'in plenty black fella run away—ten fella two fella black fella boy." He scribbled a note and handed it to Lalaperu. "Lalaperu, you go quick house belong white fella marster Boucher.

"That will head them back from the coast on both sides," he explained to Joan. "And old Seelee will turn his whole village loose on their track as well."

In response to the summons of the big bell Joan's Tahitians were the first to arrive, by their glistening bodies and panting chests showing that they had run all the way.

Sheldon proceeded to arm Joan's sailors and deal out ammunition and handcuffs. Adamu Adam, with loaded rifle, he placed on guard over the whaleboats. Noa Noah, aided by Matapu, was instructed to take charge of the working gangs as fast as they came in, to keep them amused, and to guard against their being stampeded into making a break for themselves. The five other Tahitians were to follow Joan and Sheldon on foot.

"I'm glad we unearthed that arsenal the other day," Sheldon remarked as they rode out of the compound gate.

A hundred yards away they encountered one of the clearing gangs coming in. It was Kwaque's gang, but Sheldon looked in vain for him.

"What name that fella Kwaque he no stop along you?" he demanded.

"Here, you fella Babatani, you talk 'in mouth belong you."

Babatani stepped forward in all the pride of one singled out from among his fellows.

"Gogoomy he finish along Kwaque altogether," was Babatani's explanation. "He take 'in head 'in long him run like h—"

In brief words and with paucity of imagination he described the murder, and Sheldon and Joan rode on.

A mile farther on, where the run-ways' trail led straight toward the bush, they encountered the body of Kwaque. The head had been hacked off and was missing, and Sheldon took it on faith that the body was Kwaque's. He had evidently put up a fight, for a bloody trail led away from the body.

SHE RUSHED THE STARTLED HORSE STRAIGHT AT GOGOOMY.

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

TASTY FISH DISHES.

By Martha McCulloch Williams.

Now that paper bag cooking has robbed fish of their harmful odor, the tang that hung to the house through days and days, Friday has lost a terror and gained a charm.

A baked fish of any sort is the better for stuffing. Buy your fish with regard to the size of paper bags. If you need a very big fellow, make up your mind that it must be cut in fillets. Two medium fish, stuffed and baked, are much better than the same weight in one. Have the head and tail cut off and the scales very well removed. Wash quickly, wipe dry with a damp cloth and keep very cold until ready to cook, but do not salt—it draws out the juices.

Fish stuffing needs to be rich and tasteful. Make it of breadcrumbs well seasoned with butter or chopped suet; of mashed potato, seasoned with onions and tomato catsup, or of cream, beaten up with an egg and milk, and fried brown in hot bacon fat. Wipe the fish afresh inside, salt lightly, dust with black pepper and lay in a little lump of butter or suet. Stuff and tie the fillets, then season outside, grease well all over and pop into a well greased bag. Cook twenty to thirty-five minutes in a hot oven, reduced after a while. Sliced tomatoes and onions or tomato catsup in the bag with the fish increase the flavor admirably.

If you like fillets well browned, season them after wiping clean, dip in sweet milk quickly, roll lightly in flour and put into a thickly greased bag with a lump of butter proportioned to the number. A pound of fillets requires a large spoonful of butter. Cook in a hot oven ten to twenty minutes, shifting from the high shelf to the low, or vice versa, after ten minutes.

Stew fish with vegetables after this fashion: Cut up in neat pieces any good white fish that is firm and fresh. Free the pieces from skin and bone, wipe well, season lightly, dip in melted butter and lay together while you pare and cut in thin slices onions, turnips, carrots, potatoes, as many as you like. Lay a thick mass of the sliced vegetables in the bottom of a well greased bag, sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper, then imbed in the mass as many fish strips as it will hold without danger of crowding the bag. Put on more vegetables, stick in more fish. When all are used, put in a scant cupful of slightly salted water and a lump of butter rolled in flour. Seal bag, lay it on trivet, taking care that the corners are very fast. Set upon the gridshelf in a hot oven for five minutes, then reduce heat at least a third and cook for half an hour to forty minutes according to the weight of the bag.

Rich fish, as salmon, are delicious cooked in wine.

Any good, firm-grained fish of delicate flavor can be creamed in a paper bag. Cut it in thick slices, wipe clean, season, roll in flour, and lay in a thickly buttered bag. Add a lump of butter the size of a walnut for each half-pound of fish, and half a pint of thick cream. Seal bag tight, set on trivet, cook forty minutes in moderate oven, the heat of which is reduced as above directed. Haddock, sole, flounder, or white fish can be made very excellent in this fashion. Serve with hot brown bread, very sour pickle, and baked apples dressed with sugar and rum, or a very sour salad.

MORE FISH.

By Nicholas Soyer, Chef of Brooks' Club, London.

Sole Bourguignon: Thoroughly butter a bag, place inside a well trimmed sole or flounder, add three small peeled uncut onions, a bouquet garni and a glass of claret. Mix a large teaspoonful of flour with an ounce of butter, place this mixture on the sole, seal up the bag and cook for twenty minutes in a hot oven.

Sole or Flounder or Cod, a la Comtesse: Grease a bag thickly. Take six or eight fillets of soles, dust them lightly with salt and white pepper and squeeze a little lemon juice over each fillet. Put them in a bag and add to them an ounce of finely minced mushrooms, half a heaped large teaspoonful of finely minced shallot or chives, a heaped large teaspoonful of minced parsley and a heaped desert-spoonful of freshly fried breadcrumbs, all mixed together. Add also half a wineglassful of sherry mixed with the same amount of either good fish stock or ordinary stock. Close the bag and cook in a moderately hot oven for eighteen to twenty minutes. Dish up. Pour the liquor and herbs, etc., over the fish and send to table at once.

To make the fish stock, put the bones and trimmings from the fish in a clean small stewpan with a gill of water and a bit of turnip, carrot, onion and celery, all first well washed and sliced, and simmer fifteen minutes. Strain off and use.

Whitebait: Clean and dry one pound whitebait and roll in flour. Melt one ounce of butter, season with a little cayenne pepper, a finely chopped shallot, and a tablespoonful of vinegar. Sprinkle fish with this mixture, seal in a well buttered bag and cook for five minutes in a very hot oven. (Copyright, 1911, by Sturgis & Walton Company.)

Ottumwa, Iowa.—"For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms; shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health."—Mrs. HARRIET E. WAMPLER, 524 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider Well This Advice. No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

PAPER BAG COOKING CONVERT

Martha McCulloch Williams Declares Soyer System Is Latest Gift to Woman's Greatest Art.

Mrs. Martha McCulloch Williams, one of America's foremost cooking authorities, is a strong advocate of paper bag cooking. She has prepared a number of recipes for good dishes that will be printed in the series of articles on M. Soyer's famous system of paper bag cooking that we have arranged to run.

Mrs. Williams proclaims herself joyously a self-made cook, and mighty proud of her ability in that line. Indeed she says she thinks it a shame that so many millions are wasted in the endowment of colleges, libraries and so on—the money would bring so much greater increment of happiness and human comfort were she endowed liberally enough to permit of her cooking all the time, and all the things she likes.

"I am keenly interested in public affairs—almost as much so as in paper bags. But you couldn't chase me with the ballot—to give it to women would mean the spilling of two excellent-good things. The profession of woman I regard as the finest in the world—and sufficient to satisfy the most supreme talent. But in cooking lies my real enthusiasm. It is the one art that might tempt me into capital letters. And paper bags are the last best gift of it."

Mrs. Williams keeps house, and delights in dinners for six—which she cooks and serves herself. Thus what she has to say in this series carries the weight of experience.

$20,000 FARM

FOR $10,000 CASH!

400 acres of the best land in the county. Well improved; well watered and situated in one of the best communities in the county; one-half mile from railroad station. 200 acres of this land is creek bottom. It will produce and does produce 75 bu. of corn to the acre and 1,500 lbs. of tobacco. It grows wheat, clover, timothy. This land if situated in Indiana or Illinois would bring $100 to $150 an acre. A man who knows how to farm can make enough in two years to pay for it. # Money-making Secrets With the Farm Journal

MANY a farmer will tell you he never knew how much bigger crops he could raise until FARM JOURNAL put it into his head to work more with his brains.

This great little paper is always nudging farmers up to make more money. Pleasant but persistent, it works at you year after year to raise larger crops, finer horses and cows, heavier hogs, bigger apples and potatoes, and shows you just HOW to do it.

FARM JOURNAL ("cream, not skim-milk") is 34 years old, and has over 750,000 subscribers, more than any other farm paper published. Its four million readers (known as "Our Folks") are the most intelligent and prosperous country people in the world, and are always saying FARM JOURNAL helped to make them so. It is clean, brief, "boiled down," full of practical wisdom, gumption, fun and sunshine. It believes in order, thrift, kindness, comfort, and happiness. It has led Peter Tumbledown always ready to show how NOT to run a farm.

"Our Folks" have comfortable homes, modern buildings and machinery, tight roofs and fences, gates that swing free, sound horses, well-dressed and happy wives and children, and money in bank. Their potatoes are the largest, their milk tests the highest, their hogs weigh most, their fruit brings the best prices. Live farmers everywhere find this out, and they want the FARM JOURNAL.

Subscribe now, and get with the paper any of these famous

Money-making Secrets.

These great illustrated booklets are all stories of success in farming, and they tell you the METHODS that won it.

Poultry Secrets is a unique collection of the secret methods and discoveries of successful poultrymen. It gives Felch's famous mating chart, suppressed for years, the Curtis method of securing 50 per cent. more pullets than cockerels, Soyer's method of insuring fertility, with priceless secrets of mating, breeding, feed and feeding, how to produce winter eggs, and many others of great value long jealously guarded, now first published.

Horse Secrets exposes the methods of "bitching," "plugging," cocaine and gasoline doping, and other tricks of "gyps" and swindlers. It enables any one to tell an unsound horse. It also gives many valuable feeding, training, breeding and veterinary secrets.

Corn Secrets is the great NEW hand-book of Prof. Holden, bushels more per acre of corn that is rich in protein and other valuable stock-feeding elements. Wonderful photographic pictures make every process plain.

The MILLION EGG-FARM tells how J. M. Foster, in the New Jersey pine-belt, makes over $18,000 a year, mainly from eggs. If you keep chickens, read about the "Rancocas Unit" and learn how Foster FEEDS his hens.

THE "BUTTER BOOK" tells of seven cows that produced half a ton of butter each per year (140 pounds is the average). An eye-opener for dairymen. Get it, weed out your poor cows, and turn your good ones into record-breakers.

GARDEN GOLD shows how to make your back-yard supply you with fresh vegetables and fruit, how to cut down your grocery bills, and get cash for your surplus produce. It tells when and how to plant, cultivate, harvest and market every kind.

DUCK DOLLARS tells of the great Weber duck-farm near Boston. Every year they sell over 40,000 ducklings at a net profit of 50 cents each. Tells why ducks pay them better than chickens, and just HOW they do everything.

CASE AFTER CASE

Plenty More Like This In Cloverport.

Scores of Cloverport people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

J. C. Weatherholt, High St., Cloverport, Ky., says: "Two years ago I did not think it possible that I could ever be well again, in fact, I had settled up my affairs. I cannot describe the misery I endured from pains through my back and whenever I stooped, they became so sharp that it really felt as if someone were thrusting a knife into my kidneys. I was often very dizzy, dark spots floated before my eyes, and I had to grasp something to keep from falling. My joints became swollen to twice their natural size and I lost weight rapidly until I was a skeleton. The doctors' medicines or the many guaranteed cures that I tried did not help me and finally it was my good fortune to hear about Doan's Kidney Pills. I immediately procured a supply at Fisher's Drug Store and I was greatly surprised at the results received. Before I had taken the contents of the second box, there was a marked improvement and I continued using them until I was completely cured. I am now as well as any man in this county and I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MADISONVILLE

Madisonville, Ky., Jan. 25.—This city is to remain dry for at least two more years, a majority of 148 having been cast to keep out the saloon here in the election yesterday. It has been barless for two years. The colored vote, which is heavy here, was almost solidly against the liquor traffic.

Women and children took an active part in the temperance victory. Four hundred white school children were dismissed from their lessons to take part in a parade. In the negro section 200 colored children formed in line and marched the streets. At the Methodist church song services were held from the opening till the close of the polls. Leaders were changed every hour. The vote two years ago in favor of barring the saloon was 121.

"OPPORTUNITY" KNOCKS

at the door of every citizen of Breckinridge county today. Will you bid it enter to your fireside, and there place yourself open to conviction that it is in reality—"Opportunity"—if conclusive evidence is presented? If you will do this, read, ponder over, and act upon the following proposition: Roy Moorman, a boy whom you all know, born and reared in Breckinridge county, after traveling through and living in every portion of the West; after having had abundant opportunities and numerous positions of trust, and large responsibility with some of the strongest corporations of the nation (among them, The Copper Queen Consolidated Mining Co., of Bisbee, Arizona; Terminal Railway, Missouri & Pacific, and St. Louis & Iron Mountain railroads, of St. Louis, Mo.; Park Department, city of Los Angeles, Cal.; Lampton, Crabb & Ramey Co., of Louisville, Ky., and numerous others, to any of which I have the pleasure to refer) has found a section of the United States where there is an opportunity for every man in every line, unequalled in any other place in the United States. That section is the

Imperial Valley, of California

In former articles you have read of the Wonderful Fertility of its soil. You have read how, that in twelve years time, it has been transformed from a barren, desolate waste, of no value, to the richest agricultural valley in the whole world, now valued at more than thirty million dollars ($30,000,000.00). The valley had its starting place, so, also must the corporation that is now being organized.

Since 1903 Roy Moorman has searched the West for something good enough to offer his home people. Why to offer his home people? Because that his experience with corporations has taught him that "In Union there is Strength." It takes money to make money. By a combination of small subscriptions to one fund a large amount of money can be brought together. This is the intention of those incorporating.

Roy Moorman & Co. OF EL CENTRO, IMPERIAL VALLEY, CAL.

The purposes of this corporation are to purchase, hold, subdivide, colonize, settle, sell, convey, and otherwise, acquire, deal in, and dispose of land and other real property of every nature.

The amount of stock placed on the market is 10,000 shares, Par Value $1.00 a Share. The terms are CASH with Subscription. No Subscription for less than 10 Shares will be accepted

Every cent invested in this corporation will be protected by A-1 Security.

To Investors;

Not one cent of the money subscribed to this corporation will be spent on get-rich-quick schemes or anything of that nature. It is the intention of those managing its affairs to conduct a straightforward, legitimate investment business. Farm lands will be sold in small acreages, on easy terms. Small houses will be built in town, and sold in payments as rent. One Los Angeles firm, organized about 30 years ago along similar lines to this corporation, sold its stock originally at $100 a share; $100 invested in its stock, is today worth nearly $16,000 with accumulated dividends. Many investors here are getting from 50 to 75 per cent a year on their investment, from rentals of cottages and tent houses. Money is worth 10 per cent on the very safest loans. Your money will be as safe here as anywhere in the United States. Your subscription is solicited and will be duly appreciated, whether it is large or small.

IN CONCLUSION: You have the proposition before you and you know of the ability, honesty, and character of those behind it. You know that you will receive dollar for dollar invested, with, at least, twice the interest you could get in your own locality. Perhaps you have invested in many a stranger's get-rich-quick scheme, to your regret.

It is too much to ask the people of Breckinridge county for just one-half the amount of the subscriptions given to the various investments offered them by promoters (of whom they knew nothing at the time, and have learned "too much" about them since) in the last five years?

Remember, just 10,000 shares of a par value of $1.00 each. If you want to back a winner, fill out coupon below and mail today.
